VELETA II, the massage chair ready for any request

The experience of a well-done massage comes with a positive mood that can become addictive by being able to choose exactly what suits you from the 23 different massage programs. You can choose the program according to the time of day, adjusting the desired intensity or focus on certain parts of the body. By accessing the quick buttons on your right armrest, you can enjoy a softer, medium or more intense massage.

A complete experience that overcomes gravity

The state of weightlessness is the unique experience that each of us dreams of. VELETA II can give you exactly the same unique feeling thanks to the Zero Gravity button. By activation, the thighs and calves are positioned at the same horizontal level as the shoulders, and the center of gravity thus modified will evenly distribute the gravitational force on the body. This is the ideal position for experiencing any type of massage and effective lymphatic drainage.

A show of sound and light

With Veleta II, ambient lights complete a relaxing experience. In addition, the massage chair gives you the opportunity to enjoy music by connecting your personal phone to its audio system via Bluetooth. The built-in speakers will complete a very relaxing massage experience. In addition, with the Wireless Quick Charge function, your phone will also be full of energy at the end of the session.

Perfect communication with your massage chair

The interaction with our VELETA II massage chair, through the tablet available in 7 languages, helps you to remember your desired personalized massage option. Also with the 4D joystick, you can adjust the intensity of the massage at any given moment during the massage session.

For a more comfortable interaction, you can also use the voice commands noted on the back of the tablet. Controlling your massage experience is now infinitely easier.

Perfect customization and adaptation

The joy of a complex massage can only be achieved if the entire massage chair adapts to your expectations and needs. VELETA II is equipped with an individual multi-scan function. You can also adjust the intensity of the massage by using the 4D joystick or by removing or adding from the 4 cushions that come with the massage chair. Moreover, the VELETA II allows you to adjust the speed of the massage rollers, the intensity of the airbag pressure, the heat level and a multitude of functions at your choice.

Massage enhanced by heat

For cold days, VELETA II has the option to enhance the efficiency of the massage through the activated heating function of the back, the air cushions in the lumbar area gradually warming up will facilitate the relaxation of the muscles. For a complete sensation, you can place the thermal shawl over your chest and abdomen. These sensitive areas will relax immediately, providing a relaxing mood. The heating function ensures maximum comfort throughout the massage.

Height is no longer an issue

The VELETA II massage chair scans your height and if it exceeds 1.90 meters, it automatically adjusts its length, allowing the massage robot to go up and down enough to perform an exceptional cervical or lumbar massage. Depending on the height of the user, the footrest also extends automatically, the maximum length of the extension being 20 cm, thus ensuring a complete massage, according to the height of each user.

Reflexology and negative ions

After a day of standing up or strenuous exercise, a foot massage will quickly eliminate the accumulated fatigue. Reflexology stimulates the activity of the nerve centers and restores the energy level to optimal parameters. Using the tablet you can activate the negative ions that help increase immunity, concentration and efficiency for your entire body.

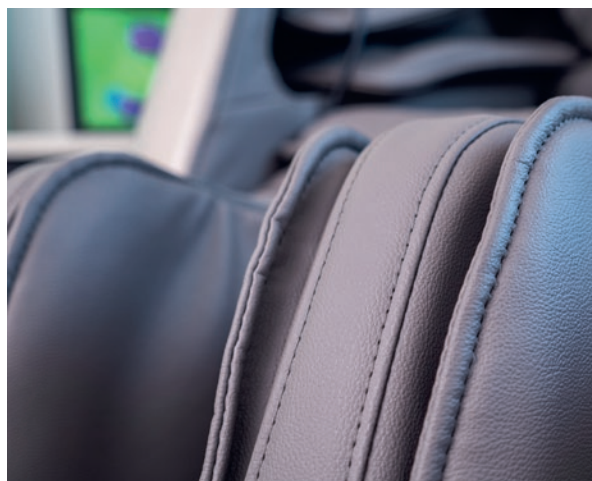

Massage the arms with air cushions

The air cushion massage offered by VELETA II is one of the most relaxing ways to achieve that state of relaxation and well-being. The air cushion system perfectly respects the curvature of the arms and legs, paying extra attention to these areas exposed to physical stress. The massage will be a unique, immediate experience.

VELETA II will match the universe of your home perfectly

The VELETA II massage chair will immediately be part of the intimate universe of your home, and for a more harmonious integration, it needs a distance of only 5 cm from the back wall in order to operate smoothly. During its operation, the massage chair will slide forward without touching the wall. At rest, it will slide back and become a special piece of furniture. Its modern design and extremely durable structure are all arguments for a long friendship and a victory in the fight against everyday stress and fatigue.
